

For the First Time at VIZJA University: Multilingual Dialogues–2026

For the first time at VIZJA University, we are pleased to announce the International Scientific and Practical Conference Multilingual Dialogues–2026: Human–AI Communication Across Generations, which will take place online on 12–14 June 2026 ✨

The main organiser of the conference is VIZJA University (Poland), with the following institutions joining as co-organisers:

- ◆ Charles University (Czech Republic)
- ◆ Université Côte d'Azur (France)
- ◆ Azerbaijan University of Languages (Azerbaijan)
- ◆ Central University of Technology, Free State (South Africa)
- ◆ State University of Trade and Economics (Ukraine)
- ◆ Sumy State Pedagogical University named after A. S. Makarenko (Ukraine)
- ◆ Fargona State University (Uzbekistan)

We are currently inviting abstract submissions of up to 500 words from BA, MA, and PhD students, early-career researchers, academics, university teachers, translators, interpreters, language educators, and specialists working in multilingual and communication-related contexts

The conference will focus on key areas such as multilingualism and language contact, sociolinguistics, historical linguistics, corpus and computational approaches to language, psycholinguistics, translation and interpreting, human–AI mediation, language education, media, and professional communication.

Importantly, there is no participation fee ✓

Another important opportunity is that selected high-quality abstracts may be invited to prepare full chapters for inclusion in a peer-reviewed collective volume. Accepted chapters will then be submitted for indexing in Scopus, subject to the publisher's indexing procedures 📖

 Abstract submission deadline: 20 May 2026

 Acceptance notification: 29 May 2026

 Full paper submission: 31 July 2026

For conference-related questions, the contact persons are Dr. Habil. Yan Kapranov, Dr. Bożena Iwanowska, and Dr. Ali Basarati via dialogica2025@gmail.com
